Outline Description	The oldest chapel within the fort, near the Porta del Soccorso, is being restored and will be retained as a Church.
Property Description	The old chapel which has existed since 1488, lies within Fort St. Elmo and predates the fort itself. It was incorporated in the works of the bastions when the Knights built the fort in the 16th century. Some sources state that predating the building of Valletta, the dedication of this church was St Elmo. The chapel was re-dedicated to St. Anne in the mid-16th century. The church although of modest dimensions is embellished with ornate stone carvings that date to the seventeenth century.
