Outline Description	The village of Kirkop was declared a parish in 1592. The church was originally built in 1500 however; it underwent many architectural changes in fact between the years 1706 and 1779 the church was enlarged while in 1860 two bell frays were added.
Property Description	The church is built on a Latin Cross plan. Its facade is embellished with the statue of Saint Roque and Saint Leonard, raised on a plinth. These flank either side of the arched doorway. Directly above the door there is a rectangular window which is decorated with stone moulding and topped by a running frieze and a blank triangular pediment. The upper part of the facade is crowned with a blank balustrade and two square bell towers which are then topped with a pyramidal top. The facade terminates with flat pilasters crowned with volute capitals. Accentuation around the main portal is done with the use of surmounted flat pilasters. The church also has two side doors which sides also follow the architectural scheme of the west facade.
